

Monday 20th June 2011

The team must have looked striking today (even in my absence). The white shirts and beige trousers were ditched for mint green shirts and black trousers.

However it has come to my attention that Netty's strict rules on uniform have been broken. I don't want to name names (IT WAS NETTY) but yesterday someone (NETTY) wore a brown belt instead of the white belts that we were instructed to wear as part of our uniform. A second uniform issue arose today as Laura, I'm sad to say, paraded around the golf club with her shirt not tucked into her trousers. Netty addressed the issue on the first tee by tucking in Laura's shirt for her.

However it cannot have done Laura any harm at all as this afternoon she beat the English Girls Champion in singles match play. Laura won in style by birdying the last hole sinking a very well judged putt. You may remember me mentioning how difficult the 18th green is to read. Fantastic win Laura and what a way to gain your 1st team county colours! Congratulations! Tomorrow I suggest that Netty should dress every player to help ensure victory!

Now on to an alarming note. If I'm honest I didn't believe it myself when I first heard the events that took place last night. At approximately 2300 hours on Sunday Maryann, our county president was seen talking to a young gentleman of 27 years of age in the hotel bar. A few moments later she was seen leaving the hotel with him. Soon on Maryann returned to the hotel with 3 boxes. This was incredibly suspicious behaviour and I'm afraid you will have to wait until tomorrow's blog to discover the contents of these three boxes.

ONLY JOKING!

The truth is that Maryann chatted up a young gentleman in the hotel bar who happened to be an Oreo rep had attended the 3 counties show and was soon to leave for Wimbledon. She had managed to squeeze 3 boxes of Oreo biscuits out of the young man. Maryann is considered a hero for providing the team with junk food after Janice sadly could not carry out the food shop for us this week.

Unfortunately Karen was bitten on the knee today. Her knee swelled up to the size of 10 Oreo's, I can only advise anyone who plans to come and support during the week to attend in full bee keeper uniform. I plan to wear my superman outfit which is indestructible.

Monday was always going to be a tough day against those bears, oops, I mean those Warwickshire girls! But I have absolutely no doubt that the team will not be disheartened by today and start a fresh tomorrow.
